Personnel Safety Applications
Emergency Evacuation

Still doing your headcount manually?

In petrochemical plants and refineries process units, the monitoring of contractors and their activities, their presence and their departure time are still being collected manually. In case of accident, lives can be lost which can potentially lead to legal consequences costing millions to your organization.

Emergency Procedures | Automatic Headcount | Automatic sign-in & sign-out

Purelink location systems reinforce emergency evacuation procedures. The exact time when workers arrive, leave and their location in the plant are automatically registered. At any moment plant safety hygienists know contractors and employees location. The number of hours taken by contractors to perform a scheduled maintenance task is measured automatically to control costs and facilitate emergency procedures. When a gas leak or a fire occurs, Bluefairy™ Reporter software displays for the first responder team, instantly Mustering and Last-Known Location reports of personnel and contractors over the facility.

These instant reports cut employee headcount time and eliminate manual searching of the location of employees. First responders can focus on the evacuation process. Safety personnel can focus their work on incident containment to limit the impact on the facility.

Benefits

- Time attendance & work measurement
- Automatic headcount of employees and contractors
- Last-known-Location Report
- Mustering Report
- Safety management and cost control during plant shut-down
- Automatically document safety protocol compliance
- Facilitate emergency evacuation protocols
- Audit & analysis of past displacements

The ease of installation of Purelink's products facilitates their integration in your emergency protocols. The deployment of Purelink location system can be gradual and evolve according to the needs of the facility.
